MARYVILLE, MO., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1919.

Fall Enrollment Shows Increase

SEVERAL CHANGES IN FACULTY.

The enrollment at State Teachers College at the end of the first week of the current term shows that 192 students have paid their entrance fees. Last year 149 students had enrolled at the end of the first week. In view of the fact that there is a marked shortage of teachers in the public schools of Northwest Missouri and elsewhere, and that many of the students attending the college this term have been importuned and almost compelled to accept teaching positions this year, the showing of the enrollment is very satisfactory. If additional enrollments of the term correspond to the additional enrollments of last year, the enrollment for the fall term of 1919-20 should exceed 250.

Superintendents are still writing to the college and some have even visited the institution, seeking to get students to take positions.

The program of the college for the current term includes 73 courses.

A new course which will be required for all candidates for certificates and diplomas, entitled Health Control, was organized last week under the direction of Dr. J. F. Rogers, Director of the Department of Public Health. This course will recite at the period beginning 1:20 p. m. Physical examination of all students was taken up last week also. It is intended to keep a record of the health condition of every student of the institution and advice as to the best care and conservation of the health of the individual will be given as a means of producing a better health record of the student.

The following new members have been added to the faculty of the State Teachers College.

Dr. Fred L. Keller of Jonesboro, Arkansas has been appointed to the position of instructor in education.

He will have charge of the subjects formerly taught by Dr. Davis, now president of the State Normal School at Dillon, Mont. Dr. Keller is a graduate of the University of Arkansas, of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, and holds his doctor's degree from New York University, New York

MANY HIGH SCHOOLS WISH ENTRANCE IN ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Swinehart, secretary of the high school association, is very busy answering the inquiries that are coming in from outlying high schools calling for constitutions, blanks for copies of contracts, and for statements of conditions under which they may enter. Prospects for this year are very promising and new schools will undoubtedly be added to the list. At present there are fifty-eight members in good standing, with several prospective schools whose inquiries have been answered, ready to come in.

High school activities will include athletics, debate, song and other literary contests.

In athletics, interest at present, centers around football. From letters received it seems that many strong teams will be developed in the district. For the winter months basket ball will occupy the attention of the schools. Some inquiries have already been answered with regard to rules of eligibility for entering championship contests. In the spring track and tennis will be foremost, and inquiries have also been received asking for details in regard to these sports.

In literary activities there will be held the usual series of debates through an elimination contest, the winners competing in the spring for the district honors. Other literary events will be carried on as usual. Much interest has been manifested in all these events, not only by high school superintendents but also by members of school boards and other school officials.

Mr. Bohon of Savannah,

Mr. Griffith of St. Joseph, and

Mr. Dougherty of Bethany who have been officers of the association have withdrawn by virtue of leaving the district or changing their activities.

Faculty Have Party.

A reception was given in the ladies' parlor Thursday, Sept. 18, from 3:30 to 5:00 for the faculty, in honor of the new members and their wives.

President Richardson gave an informal address, Miss James sang a solo and Mrs. Metzler gave a reading.

Punch was served.

SENIORS BEGIN FALL TERM WITH RECORD ENROLLMENT.

The college senior class at its meeting Sept. 16, elected the following officers:

President—Grace Stevenson.
Vice-President—Viola Barber.
Sec'y.—Treas.—Mrs. F. H. Meazler.
Staff Reporter—Viola Barber.
Other members of the class are:
Maude Ummel
Neva Wallace
Nell Hudson
Lillian Carpenter
Minnie Turner
Frances Holliday
Dorothy Dale
Alyce Leeper
Harriet Van Buren
Velma Appleby

Of the fifteen members, five are graduates from the Home Economics department.

As a result of the ballot taken by the student body, Maude Ummel, a senior, was elected editor-in-chief and Laura Curfman, another senior, associate editor of the Green and White Courier.

Miss Beatrix Winn, senior adviser, entertained the college seniors Wednesday, Sept. 24, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Ryan. Miss Degan assisted in receiving and serving.

Since this was a "get acquainted" party some very interesting things were told by different members of the class.

One member told of experiences amidst beauties of California life; one told of Florida and a visit to Cuba where her party was royally entertained; another described the work in a United Presbyterian Mission School in Tennessee. Many other very interesting stories were told.

Plans for further class activities were discussed, some of which will be carried out in the near future.

All college seniors and those who know Miss Winn will vouch for the good time enjoyed by those present.

Ray McPherron has returned home after spending the summer in Maine, assisting in an educational camp for boys and girls. He soon goes to Chicago University, where he will continue his study of medicine.

Football Season Starts Oct. 3

BIG BILL RICHARDS IS CAPTAIN.

The football team is rapidly being whipped into shape for the first game of the season with Tarkio College at Tarkio, Oct. 3. About twenty players are working hard every evening, trying for a place on the team.

"Big Bill" Richards, captain and fullback, is showing up in the best of form and is hitting the line like a ton of brick. The other members of the backfield, Stewart and Puckett, as half-backs and Houchens as quarter are showing up as veterans. In the line some of the positions, as yet, are uncertain. However, from the material we have, we are expecting a heavy line.

Cordial relations between the College and the high school have been established and both teams have been getting much good practice, bucking each other.

Coach Rice says: "I would like to express my thanks to the high school students for giving us the chance to practice with them. I hope they, too, may see their opportunity to better themselves by practicing against a strong team."

The College eleven has the following schedule of eight games this season:

October 3—Tarkio College at Tarkio.

October 11—Palmer College at Albany.

October 18—Kirksville College at Kirksville.

October 25—Westminster College at Maryville.

November 1—Graceland College at Lamoni.

November 7—Tarkio College at Maryville.

November 22—St. Joseph Veterans at Maryville.

First Tea Given Sept. 17.

The faculty of the State Teachers College entertained the students with a tea last Wednesday afternoon. This was a get acquainted affair. It is planned to give a tea once a month for the students. A program will be given and refreshments served by the different classes. Do not miss any of them.

Training School Has New Name.

The College Park School of Maryville is the official name of the children's school of the State Teachers College. It co-operates in every way with the Public Schools of the city, the daily attendance being reported to the city superintendent month by month, thereby complying with the State Attendance law. The various grades have reached a maximum enrollment. The kindergarten, of which Miss Lois Hankins is the instructor, is full and overflowing, many applicants have been put on the waiting list. The equipment of the department is very superior. A kindergarten such as this prepares the child for a high grade of primary work and saves much valuable time.

One of the new features of the school is the required physical examination. Dr. Rogers, who has control of the public health and physical education of the school, has charge of the examination of each pupil. He is strongly in favor of one hot dish served at noon hour to the children. Preparation is being made to have a lunch room fitted up on the first floor, and one hot dish will be served to the children at cost. The boys and girls of the Junior High School are to assist in equipping the lunch room.

Another interesting feature is that the girls of junior high school are taking manual training as well as cooking and the boys are taking cooking in addition to manual training.

DEPARTMENT NOTES.

Home Economics.

The junior high school foods class, consisting of six boys and eight girls, began work Friday, Sept. 19. This is the first time boys have been permitted to take Home Economics work in this school. It is the aim of the instructors to make the course as interesting and attractive as possible, so that the boys will be encouraged in studying it. The ultimate aim is to make it a permanent requirement of the school.

Public sentiment is tending toward the education of boys in this type of work. As a result many of the standard schools are insisting on boys taking the course. The purpose of such instruction is not to teach the boys merely how to cook but to give them a knowledge of food and its importance to personal health.

The Library.

New help, new books, and a new stack will soon be available in the library.

Art.

A course in costume designing which was not noted on the program is being offered this quarter by the art department.

Students preparing to teach under the Smith-Hughes Bill should note that a certain amount of art is required.

Music.

The classes in public school music methods and music appreciation present an encouraging outlook for the new instructor. A girls' chorus club will be organized and interested persons are invited to join. The prospects are good for a well developed orchestra which will add much to assembly and other events in which the student body will participate.

Mathematics.

Several new comets have been discovered. As yet nothing much is known of them. Scientists everywhere are working hard trying to find out their courses. As far as we know the planets are exceeding-

Miss Helwig makes the announcement that this fall she will again give those students who desire observation work, a chance to go out one evening during the fall to observe the moon. Miss Helwig will announce later the night which she thinks best for this work.

Geography.

In the geography department courses in elements of geography, descriptive geography, economic geography, and physical geography are being offered. The classes are well filled. Mr. Cauffield has been going over the maps and expects to order some new ones soon.

Chemistry.

Over thirty students have enrolled in the course in college chemistry. The large class makes it necessary to divide the class for laboratory work. A course in qualitative analysis is being offered for those who have completed the general course in chemistry. Mr. Wilson reports that new equipment has been ordered and should be here soon.

Biology.

Four courses in biological science are being offered this quarter. These courses include zoology, elementary biology, biology 11, and general biology 13. Biology 11 is for teachers, and consists largely of nature study while biology 13 is for those who wish to take professional study.

Agriculture.

The animal husbandry course will consist largely of judging livestock. Mr. Steinsmeyer has visited the owners of several pure bred herds in the county with the view of obtaining their permission to judge their stock.

In the cereal crops course, the class will make selections of seed corn from the college farm. As a rule the farmer does not make any attempt to keep his seed wheat pure. Mr. Steinsmeyer will emphasize the need of each farmer using a plot, separate from the others for the cultivation of pure seed.

Considerable equipment will be added to the apparatus now on hand.

History.

Mr. Foster has some excellent new war maps he intends to use in class. The current history class have no text, so are using the Review of Reviews, New York Times, Springfield Republican, and illustrative material. Mr. Foster has many fine photographs and post cards of war scenes which he will gladly loan to any one who is making a special study of war conditions. This fine material might be better utilized if there were more room for its display.

The American history department has moved into its new quarters in room 320.

The large American History class, 12a, has increased its numbers with four correspondence students. The class is supplementing the text with the Outlook.

Clyde D. Sawyers, a former student, arrived home Monday, Sept. 13, after being discharged from the navy.

He enlisted a year ago last August, and after training at the Great Lakes was sent to the East. He made a number of trips across; once his ship carried 2,000 German prisoners.

He expects to start to school soon, and will try out for the football team.

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES. Eurekan Notes.

The Eurekans held a short business meeting, Thursday, Sept. 11 in room 301, at which the following officers were elected: President, Bill Richards; vice-president, Jessie Murphy; secretary, Mary Condon; treasurer, Abbie Murray; sergeant at arms, Helen Dean; staff reporter, Elizabeth Leet.

Did you hear about the jolly times the Eurekans had Thursday, Sept. 18? After the constitution and by-laws were read and the new members had gone thru the ordeal of "signing up," all were invited into the adjoining room where Helen Dean, Mary Condon, Jessie Murphy and Alyce Leeper greeted them. The chairs had been pushed against the walls, leaving plenty of floor space. Some one played a march and soon all took part in a grand march until they were called to the punch table. The rest of the time was spent in dancing and games. Everybody got acquainted with all other Eurekans.

Excelsior Notes.

The first meeting of the Excelsior Literary Society was well attended by old members. A brief program consisting of music and an account of the historical background of the society was given.

The "Baby" society gave a Juvenile Program at their second meeting for this quarter.

Philo Notes.

The Philomathean Society elected the following officers Thursday, Sept. 18: President, Carrie Coler; vice-president, Dorothy Dale; secretary, Elizabeth Robertson; treasurer, Jasper Adams; Courier representative, Blanche Landfather.

A number of new members were enrolled at this meeting.

Philos are Entertained.

Carrie Coler entertained the Philos with a line party at the Empire, Tuesday, Sept. 23. After the show refreshments were served at the Candy Kitchen. A very enjoyable evening was spent getting acquainted with new and old members.

As the new president, Carrie has begun her work with much enthusiasm. All Philos are pleased with the prospects of the Society for the coming year; this includes the little dog, Philo mascot, who echoed the fifteen rahs for Carrie.

Y. W. Election Held.

The Y. W. C. A. held a meeting last Wednesday to elect their officers and also to take in new members. There were about fifty-five new members present and the following officers were elected: President, Grace Stevenson; vice-president, Alyce Leeper; secretary, Wave Hulet and treasurer, Ethel Sloan. The officers were elected until February, then it was decided to use the former plan of electing them for a year. The girls also decided to have a meeting once a week, dividing the four meetings of the month into a devotional, a social, a literary and a business meeting.

Sophomore Class Meets.

Twenty students attended the sophomore class meeting Friday Sept. 19. Miss Brunner, class adviser, presided over the meeting.

In the election which followed, Eucl Ramsey was chosen president; Frede Shaffer, vice-president, and Ferne Scarlett, secretary and treasurer. Ralph Yehle was elected as class reporter.

A number of the class members were not present at the meeting, therefore no definite plans or arrangements have been made, as yet, for any social meetings or parties.

However, the sophomore class is a very live class and will do its part in the school's activities.

College Juniors Organize.

Miss Anthony presided at the organization of the Junior class Friday afternoon.

Vi June Colden was elected temporary chairman and Wave Hulet was appointed temporary secretary. In the elections which followed, Edith Holt was made president. Mary Wooldridge vice-president, and Wave Hulet secretary and treasurer. Henry L. Sawyers was elected to the Courier staff.

The class decided to adopt the assessment plan instead of the regular class fees. Rose and green were selected as the class colors.

The ten members of the class are: Claire Davis, Ethel Sloan, Annette Simmons, Edith Holt, Vi June Colden, Mary Wooldridge, Wave Hulet, Jessie Z. Murphy, Charlie Wells, and Henry L. Sawyers.

Miss Brunner was called to Macon Tuesday because of the death of her uncle, Mr. Charley Brunner.

THE STROLLER.

The Stroller had a peach of a time during vacation. He went home after the last of the terms which sprouted this summer like legs on a centipede. He had visions of a hammock, a novel and tinkling lemonade. Having recently read Lucile, those famous lines, which Mr. Swinehart says will not go down in literature, were running thru his head—you remember them about a "cigar, a French novel, a bit of flirtation."

Strange to say, the family was not at the depot to greet him. Truly, if a prophet can be without honor in his own land, then indeed can a stroller be without fame in his home town. Central, asleep on the job as usual, succeeded in getting the house after a dozen or more hellos. Mother answered and said, "Yes, we knew you were coming, but we are busy threshing. Can't you walk out?"

From that moment, the Stroller's woes began. He did everything that could be done on a farm from milking and drying dishes to getting callous bumps by the dozens from work in the field. Then, when he arrived in Maryville this fall, folks began asking him if he had a pleasant vacation. Take it from the Stroller, Maryville is a good place to take your vacation, and from September to the next August is good, but from September to the next September and continuously thereafter might be better.

Nobody appreciates new material to work on better than the Stroller. Now, when he got back on the job, there were a lot of new faculty members to investigate and Sherlock Holmes about. It would be nice to write them up because it would give the other members of the august body a rest (which the Stroller hopes they appreciate) and it would also give him a chance to haze the freshmen of the faculty, so to speak and incidentally to use an idiom of Dr. Keller's. Which brings to mind this story:

Dr. Keller (first day of fall term, to Miss Ballard in the library): "Could you tel me the text they have been using in History of Education?"

Miss Ballard ( a hasty glance at Dr. Keller): "Really, I think it would be safer to ask your instructor."

They say everything comes in threes. At any rate a similar incident occurred in the office:

Mr. Glenn (coming into the office): "Could you tell me where I could get some chalk?"

Miss Degan (looking rather puzzled): "What did you want with chalk?"

Mr. Glenn: "Why, I am the manual training teacher and I'd like some to write on my board."

Isn't it too bad that all these flattering compliments of youthfulness had to go to waste on men. Now, the Stroller, knowing women as he does, realizes what a hit he could have made with the women he knew when he was young if he had just used some T. N. T. of this composition.

Whatever else Mr. Rice may be said to be, nobody can deny that he is a good sport. He brought a raincoat up to the Home Economics Department the other day which he said needed some buttons sewed on. Now, the girls not finding a color of thread to exactly match decided not to be partial and sewed one button on with red thread, one with blue and one with green. We may say parenthetically that Mr. Rice is the only bachelor Mr. Richardson drew on his new set of faculty men. We really think he should be more considerate. At any rate, to continue the story, having some thread left over, the girls also sewed up the pockets and sleeves of the coat. So, poor man, like a good sport, he took it good naturedly, but if you see him wearing a coat like unto Joseph's, know ye it is not his fault. There is another story which might be told, but in mercy, the Stroller passes on to Dr. Rogers.

Dr. Rogers (to a small member of the College Park School): "Where did you get those chesnuts?"

Small Youngster (hurriedly, as if afraid the doctor would take them from him): "Right over there on that big tree. You can get yourself some."

It is a consolation to know that someone besides the Stroller gets called down for not going promptly to assembly. Week before last Miss James and Miss Arnett were complacently leaning over the bannister at the rear of the auditorium when they should have been inside. It would be safer to ask them what the president said. Still, Miss James could sing, so it couldn't have been very bad.

When Mr. Steinsmeyer gets thru explaining to the faculty how to spell his name, he may have some time to devote to other pursuits. The Stroller hopes they will all read this article because it is spelled correctly herein. He is married, so the girls of the schools need not worry.

The only thing in Miss Ummel's past that the Stroller can find is her election to the editor-in-chiefship of this paper. He overheard a conversation between her and Mr. Rice about electioneering or something to that effect, and we understand that there is a move on foot to make her publish political expenses.

And Prexy, ever new every year, cannot escape the Stroller any more this year than formerly. This is an old joke, but we have just heard it.

A new student last fall said at the dining table one evening: "I wish someone would point out to me the man they call Prexy out there at school. I've just looked and looked for him, but I never can seem to locate him."

We think that's a good one on the President.
